The editor, contributors, and publishers wish to thank the galleries, libraries, museums, private collectors, and publishing presses for permitting the reproduction in black-and-white of architectural edifices, drawings, paintings, prints, sculptures, and other pertinent materials from their collections herewith reproduced. Photographs and permissions have been supplied by the generosity and assistance of Art Resource in New York, in particular by the efforts of Daisy Hu, as well as by the collections, galleries, and museums listed in each illustration whose courtesy is gratefully acknowledged.

My gratitude is extended to the Healey Grant Foundation and the University of Massachusetts Lowell for their support of my research. The assistance of Nancy Desmond, Research Foundation of the University of Massachusetts Lowell, was invaluable in the preparation of the manuscript. The support of the Peter Lang's staff is as well recognized and appreciated. Lastly, I wish to thank my students, in particular, Elizabeth Donnelly, Deborah Griffin, Dian Jazyanka, Linnea Olson, Susan Poinatowski, Sandra Rei, Karen Spinelli, and Virginia Robson, who continue to teach me to probe on the beauty of Italian Mannerism.
